TRANSFORMING SOCIAL WORK EDUCATION IN IRELAND

The Apprenticeship in Social Work is an exciting dual programme that will allow you to gain both fully paid on-the-job practical experience and skills and a level 9 Masters of Social Work or Postgraduate Diploma in Social Work Studies, both of which are CORU approved. Employers and the education provider work closely together to provide you with training and learning opportunities tailored to your individual needs, learning style and life situation.

Key Features of the Social Work Apprenticeship:

- Over half your learning takes place on-the-job
- ‘Earn while you learn’ apprenticeship model with a formal contract of employment
- The apprenticeship leads to a Masters of Social Work and Postgraduate Diploma in Social Work Studies awards and these are approved by CORU
- The off-the-job learning in year 1 will take place in 2 phases including from September- December and May. The Year 2 block will take place from Jan-April. The blocks will be structured for flexibility with three days online and 2 days face to face in small groups.

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

The apprenticeship will give you the knowledge, values and skills to have a long and rewarding career in social work across a wide variety of settings including child welfare, health and criminal justice services.

You will learn to work supporting service users and allied professionals to find solutions and to effect change. The problems and challenges social workers seek to address span the life cycle and society at large. The issues you will learn to deal with might be a crisis or emergency or it could be providing support, information and advice to a person to cope with ongoing difficulties or loss.

The apprenticeship enables you to develop the standards of proficiency as set out by the statutory regulator, CORU, to register as a professionally qualified social worker in Ireland. The current standards are:

- Professional Autonomy and Accountability
- Communication, Collaborative Practice and Teamworking
- Safety and Quality
- Professional Development
- Professional Knowledge and Skills research, project management and service evaluation/review

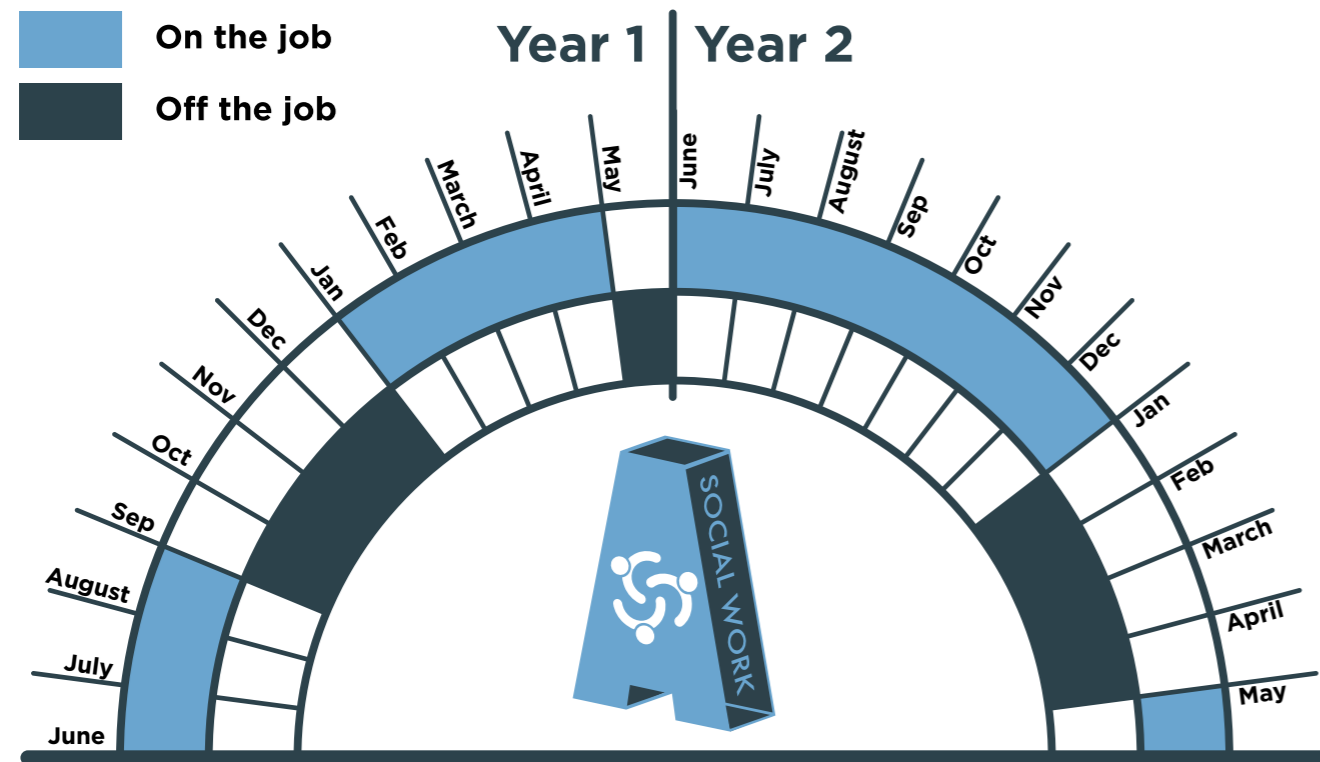

APPRENTICESHIP STRUCTURE

This two-year apprenticeship programme is structured for blended delivery of online learning and face to face sessions which minimizes time off- the- job. You will benefit from small-class sizes when in college and learning and teaching methods will facilitate you to put your knowledge into practice through for example, small group activities, role-plays, student presentations and report writing tasks. You will be trained and assessed both on and off the job.

STATUTORY REGULATOR ROLE

SOLAS is the statutory regulator for apprenticeship programmes with responsibilities governed under the 1967 Industrial Training Act. Under their remit SOLAS/National Apprenticeship Office (NAO) appoints 'Authorised Officers' (AOs) who carry out activities on its behalf. This includes approving new employers who wish to recruit and train apprentices and the registering of apprentices. Authorised Officers are employed by Education and Training Boards (ETBs) and are assigned to work with employers based on the geographical region in which the employer is located.

Upon receipt of an Expression of Interest (EOI) from an employer the Authorised Officer (AO) in the region will schedule a visit with the employer and complete the statutory approvals process. The AO will also complete the registration process for apprentices recruited by the employer and work with the employer and apprentice across the duration of the apprenticeship programme.

The Employer and Apprentice must sign the Apprenticeship Code of Practice. For further information on your role and responsibilities as an Apprentice, please refer to this document.

HOW TO BECOME A SOCIAL WORK APPRENTICE

To become an apprentice in social work you must meet the eligibility criteria for the programme, apply for an apprenticeship vacancy with a Solas approved employer and successfully pass each stage of the recruitment process. To find an apprenticeship, you can search apprenticeship vacancies on the apprenticeship jobs page. You can search for vacancies by location and by apprenticeship.

Further information on apprenticeships can be found on the Generation Apprenticeship website or the UCC Social Work Apprenticeship website.
